Before contract negotiations, the PE will require assurances that the Professional staff/experts will be actually available. The PE will not consider substitutions during contract negotiations unless both parties agree that undue delay in the selection process makes such substitution unavoidable or for reasons such as death or medical incapacity. If this is not the case and if it is established that Professional staff/experts were offered in the proposal without confirming their availability, the firm may be disqualified. Any proposed substitute shall have equivalent or better qualifications and experience than the original candidate.

Background

1.0 Introduction

Arusha Region lies in the North Eastern corner of Tanzania mainland and lies between latitude latitudes 1.6 degrees -3-0 degrees South of the Equator; and between Longitudes 35 degrees -37.5 degrees East of Greenwich. It is bordered by Republic of Kenya on the North, Kilimanjaro Region on the East, Manyara Region on the South and Singida, Shinyanga and Mara Regions on the West. Administratively, Arusha region is divided into six (6) Districts namely Arusha, Arumeru, Karatu, Longido, Monduli and Ngorongoro.

Arusha region has a bimodal rainfall pattern falling between October and December for the short rains, while the long rains start in February and ends in June. Karatu District is the exception in the region which gets only one rainfall season that normally starts in November and ends in April, with mean annual rainfall ranging from 800 mm to 1000mm. The amount of rainfall in the region varies from year to year. Temperatures are closely related to altitude. The high altitude areas of Arumeru, Arusha, Ngorongoro and Karatu districts are cooler, and become very cold during the cold season which starts in March and ends in August/September. The average annual temperatures is 21°C in the highlands and 24°C in the low altitude areas. Temperatures at certain times go up to 30 °C during hot season in some areas of the lowlands of Monduli, Meru and Ngorongoro.

For the financial year 2024/2025, the Government of the United Republic of Tanzania has set aside fund for conducting feasibility studies and detailed engineering design for 16 irrigation schemes in Arusha Region named; Mapama, Kyamakata, Ukombozi, Ngabobo (Meru), Tingatinga, Mang'ola (Longido), Kabambe Selera, Lositeti (Monduli), Kimosonu, Eyani, Maktemu , Momela , Mwakeny, Olkwangwad, Nasula, Oldonyo Wass (Arumeru) covering irrigable area approximated to 14,550 hectares.

Lack of irrigation infrastructures is the primary cause of the low crop yield and production in most of the areas. Therefore, there is a critical need for irrigation infrastructure development to address crop production issues. The Government of Tanzania (GoT) is dedicated to creating irrigation projects and related infrastructure, which will give local populations new economic prospects and change the course of the local economy.

In order to complete the work, the National Irrigation Commission is looking for qualified consultants to complete the feasibility study and detail engineering design for 16 irrigation schemes in Arusha Region.

Project Description

2.0 Project Description

Agriculture in Tanzania has remained unpredictable and of low productivity due to the utter dependence on rainfall, which is erratic, unreliable and non-uniformly distributed. This dependence on rain-fed agriculture has subjected crop production to be low due to the vagaries of weather. Consequently, the country has continued to suffer from frequent food shortages. It is widely accepted that, the currently increasing global warming and climate change, is having negative effects on the optimal availability of water resource for crop production worldwide including Tanzania. In this regard, Tanzania needs to improve irrigation infrastructures for efficient water utilization.

Irrigation development in Tanzania is critically important in ensuring that the abundant irrigation potential is covered with developed irrigation infrastructures for the purpose of crop irrigation, pasture as well as for aquaculture. This move will eventually lead to the nation to attain a reliable and sustainable crop production and productivity as a move towards food security and poverty reduction. For sustainable irrigation development, the intervention in irrigation development has verified worldwide that it increases crop production 3-4 times than that of rain-fed agriculture.

The Government of Tanzania (GoT) acknowledges that and committed to developing Irrigation Schemes in Arusha Region, this will bring economic opportunities to communities in the area and transformation of local economies. To accomplish the work, the National Irrigation Commission is seeking the eligible consultant for execution of the Feasibility Study and Detailed Engineering Design for 16 Irrigation Schemes in Longido, Monduli, Arumeru and Karatu Districts in Arusha Region.
